Background Economy & History

The Cradle of Historic Landmarks

Larut Malacca was once a prosperous area in northern Perak. Its boundaries stretch from Sungai Selet to the south and Sungai Kelian to the north. Larut Malacca became prominent due to the discovery of tin ore in Larut in 1840 by a trader, Charles Long, who for his industrial efforts in successfully mining the ore, he was later awarded administrative power and the right to mine tin ore over Larut.

Taiping played a significant role in the history of the Silver State and is thus the most important collecting point town in Perak. Formerly known as Klang Pauh, it was renamed Taiping to commemorate the end of the Civil War in USA. With the signing of the Pangkor Treaty on the 20th January 1874, Taiping emerged as the major town in Perak.

Taiping came from the Chinese word 'Taiping' which means ETERNAL PEACE. And indeed with the decision of the British government to make Taiping as their administrative center, the active industrial town was transformed into a busy and developed town. Together with progress came a string of historical links that has made Taiping into one of the most well known towns in Malaysia's history.
